

Michigan Golf History from 2001 - 2005

By Art McCafferty

After having set records for golf course construction in the 80's and 90's, the turn of the century brought a significant downturn in golf course construction. This, in turn, led to golf architects leaving the state for work, trying to get by with renovations or just totally getting out of the business.

The new course openings in the first part of this century found some of Michigan's favorite architect's Jerry Matthews, Art Hills & Steve Forrest and Ray Hearn still very busy. There were also newcomers to our state and to the

Photo by Art McCafferty

Jim Engh and Jack Berry chat about True North Golf Club.

Photo by Art McCafferty

Arnold Palmer, Fred Couples, Lee Trevino and Phil Mickelson at the Treetops Tylenol Par 3 Shootout.

Photo by Art McCafferty

Jerry Matthews is one of the latest inductees to the Michigan Golf Hall of Fame.

craft, namely, Jim Engh, Canadian John Robinson and Michigan's Mike DeVries.

Michigan's soft economy and the overbuilt golf market helped contribute to a stagnant golf industry. In addition, the state lost two of its prestige tournaments, the LPGA Oldsmobile Classic and The Farmers Charity Golf Classic. However, Michigan did remain in the national spotlight with the U.S. Amateur, The U.S. Publinx, The Arnold Palmer Turning Point Invitational, Par 3 Shootout and The Ryder Cup all being held here

The Michigan Golf Hall of Fame recovered from its 10-year respite and brought 19 golfers into a fold that includes golf legends Walter Hagen, Horton Smith, Al Waltrous, Dave and Mike Hill, Gene Bone, Ben Smith, Shirley Spork and Warren Orlick. The turn of the century inductees included; Mary Fossum, Meg Mallon, Robert Mc Masters, Betty Richart, Clarence Wolfrom, Jack Berry, Cindy Figg Curier, Joyce Kazmierski, Greg Reyjnolds, Mary Jane Anderson Hiestand, Jack Saylor, Lloyd, Dan Pohl, Elaine Crosby, Jack Berry, Sara Wold, Stan Aldridge, Jeff Roth and Jerry Matthews.

Scott Hebert, Jeff Roth, Bob Ackerman and Michael Harris were the Michigan professionals to watch in the past five years, while Dan Pohl, Meg Mallon and Tom Gillis were making some noise on the professional side.

Web:

<http://michigangolfer.com/history.html>

Photo by Art McCafferty

The Ryder Cup was a tremendous success at Oakland Hills.

On the amateur side, Jeff Cuzxort, Mandi McConnell, Casey Baker, EMU's Korey Mahoney and young phenom Ryan Brehm of MSU were the headliners. Bart Lower, former EMU star, became a TV star on the Big Break II and Big Break IV television show during this time.

The three major golf associations in Michigan remained strong during the past five years. The Michigan PGA Section, changed leadership, after Ken Devine stepped down and Kevin Helm took over the helm. David Graham and his GAM team continued their strong leadership on the amateur side. Kate Moore solidified her position with the MGCOA and continued to focus the organization on the business of golf.

Photo by Art McCafferty

Scott Hebert has a total of five Michigan Open wins.

As we head into the second five years of the century's first decade, we will no doubt experience more course closings, tepid response to tournament sponsorships and few new course openings. The awesome golf boom of the 80's and 90's is past history and the next one, will likely be quite some time from now.

2001

Blackshire at Lakewood Shores Resort
Oscoda
Designed by Kevin Aldridge

Calderone Farms
Jackson
Designed by Bill Newcomb

The Chief GC
Bellaire
Designed by John Robinson

Fox Hills Strategic Course
Plymouth
Designed by Ray Hearn

The Grande GC
Jackson
Designed by Ray Hearn

The Jackal GC
Brighton
Designed by Bruce Matthews III

Kingsley Club
Kingsley
Designed by Mike DeVries

Photo by Art McCafferty

Sandy Dul Mily, Estelle Dul, and Kathy Dul Aznavorian of Fox Hills cut the ribbon on their new Fox Hills Strategic course.

Photo by Art McCafferty

The 3rd hole at Moose Ridge. The course was designed by Ray Hearn.

Golf in Ireland...

Where Heaven & Earth Meet

- * Home to Ryder Cup in 2006
- * 250,000 Golfers Visit Ireland annually for Golf
- * Best Established Golf Destination Winner
- * Three Links Courses in Worlds Top Ten
- * A Landmark of Hospitality & Home to Guinness!

For More Information Visit <http://www.sullivangolf.ie> or Call 011 353 69 77377

Lochenheath GC
Traverse City
Designed by Steve Smyers

Moose Ridge GC
South Lyon
Designed by Ray Hearn

The Tribute GC, Otsego Club
Gaylord
Designed by Gary Koch and Rick Robbins

2002

Pheasant Run GC
Canton
Designed by Art Hills & Steve Forrest

Lyon Oaks
South Lyon
Designed by Art Hills & Steve Forrest

Hawk's Eye GC
Bellaire
Designed by John Robinson

Rifle River GC
Sterling
Designed by Richard Moll

Forest View GC
Midland
Designed by Brian Wilson

Tullymore
Stanwood
Designed by Jim Engh

2003

Hemlock GC
Ludington
Designed by Ray Hearn

Eagle Eye
Bath
Designed by Chris Lutzke

Diamond Springs
Grand Rapids
Designed by Mike DeVries

Hawk Ridge GC
Grayling
Designed by John Robinson

Photo by Art McCafferty

Gary Koch, Keith Gornick and Rick Robbins at the opening of the Tribute Golf Club at Otsego Club.

Photo by Art McCafferty

The 7th hole at Forest View Golf Course near Midland.

Photo courtesy of Greywalls

The 6th hole at Greywalls, Mike DeVries new course in Marquette.

Forest Dunes
Roscommon
Designed by Tom Weiskopf

Wyngate GC
Rochester Hills
Designed by Craig Schreiner

Yarrow
Augusta
Designed by Ray Hearn

Royal Scot
Lansing
Designed by Ray Hearn

2004

Angels Crossing
Vicksburg
designed by Bruce Matthews III

Sundance GC
Kewadin
Designed by Jerry Matthews

College Field
Okemos
Designed by David Savic and Tom Mead

2005

Greywalls GC
Marquette
Designed by Mike DeVries

The Mines GC
Grand Rapids
Designed by Mike DeVries

Macatawa Legends
Holland
Designed by Ray Hearn

True North GC
Harbor Springs
Designed by Jim Engh MG

Photo by Art McCafferty

The 18th hole at True North